

FARM PROGRAM IN COUNTY POPULAR

RED CROSS DRIVE OPENS ON MARCH 1

KICKOFF DINNER HERE
MONDAY NIGHT FEB. 28

Milam County's 1949 American Red Cross finance campaign will get under way March 1.

To give impetus to the campaign Albert W. McCullin, finance director, with the aid of his co-workers on the central staff, has announced a kick-off meeting for 7:30 p. m. Monday night, February 28 at the Milam Coffee Shop in Cameron.

This meeting will interlock with nationwide activities on the eve of the opening of the drive for funds and will be featured by an address by President Truman.

By special radio arrangement workers in the Milam County drive will hear the President's appeal for American aid to the Red Cross. In addition to the address by President Truman there will be other talks and final shaping of plans for the opening of the canvas on Tuesday, March 1.

Mr. McCullin believes that if the campaign can get under way with a concentration of canvas effort and all working in every center the funds sought can be collected in a few days.

Mr. McCullin pointed out that the quota for Milam County is small compared to former demands under the stress of war and post war demands and with a maximum of early effort should be raised quickly. The quota for the county is $5,740 and almost half this amount has been allocated to the city of Cameron. The city will be asked to contribute $2,200.

Special publicity features have been arranged, it was disclosed by Miss Myrtle Hinton, publicity chairman. In addition to newspaper facilities and supplies, two motion picture films are available and upon request speakers and necessary equipment will be taken to any community in the county.

RAIN PEPPERS DOWN IN SOME DRY AREAS

Spring was making headway over Texas Wednesday and cold was on the run in most every section of the country.

Rain was peppering down in some dry areas. Central Texas had rain but only small amounts. High temperatures regarded as unseasonal were prevailing and forecasts said that the weather would remain warm through the next 48 hours or more with cloudy skies and some more rain.

In the west and north where winter had brought more disaster than at any time in known history, floods were occurring as the temperatures rose to melt snow.

Temperatures as high as 70 degrees were forecast for Thursday. In the Cameron area low clouds and fog have been prevailing since Sunday.

POULTRY AND DAIRYING SURVEY TO BE MADE

L. G. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said Saturday that after the Chamber of Commerce Banquet on March 8 a new program will be set up.

Present plans call for a survey by Texas A&M College on poultry and dairying possibilities in this area.

Mr. Smith who returned to the Chamber here recently from New Braunfels said the program this year would stress poultry and dairying.

The Chamber has just elected directors and they will be announced at the coming banquet. The Chamber has yet to raise its 1949 budget and this will be important if the program now under consideration is to be carried out.

Mrs. Bartow Jackson underwent an operation this week and is reported improving. Her many friends will regret to learn of her illness and wish her a speedy recovery.

ARTILLERY UNIT RATED SATISFACTORY

INSPECTION IS MADE BY COLONEL STARK

By LLOYD ALBERTSON

Battery C, 239th Field Battalion, received a rating of satisfactory as a result of its annual Federal inspection on last Tuesday evening, and Lt. Col. Stark, the inspecting officer, commended the organization on the large number of enlistments made in it in recent weeks.

Colonel Stark, representing the Inspector General's Department, Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, examined the battery's records, supply room and equipment in the afternoon, and watched the regular Tuesday evening drill period that night.

In a short speech at the conclusion of the drill period he announced he was rating the unit as satisfactory, and then commended members of the battery on their patriotism in joining the National Guard. He said that in the past citizen soldiers had helped fight—and win—all this country's wars.

Major Brewster, 239th FA Battalion commanding officer, also congratulated the unit on its rapid growth.

Capt. Rudolph Michalka stated that since the Tuesday evening drill period two more enlistments have been made in the unit. They are Melvin Tindall and Marshall N. Barrett, a former Guardsman.

Anyone interested in learning more about National Guard training is invited to attend the Battery's Tuesday evening drill period beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Washington and Oregon should shift, the cold front in the Canadian Rockies might dip as far southward as Texas, the bureau said.

SOUTHWESTERN LIFE CO. GAINS 697 MILLIONS

In 1948 the people of Texas increased their life insurance with Southwestern Life Insurance Company to $697,208,140, James Ralph Wood of Dallas, president, announced in releasing the Company's 46th annual financial statement to policy owners. This was an increase during last year of $56,341,122.

He stated that inasmuch as Southwestern Life is wholly a Texas company, with every director and its more than 800 employees and agents living and working in Texas, this evidence of the confidence and good will of the more than 245,000 Texas citizens who are now numbered among the Company's policyowners was especially gratifying.

During last year more than $8,300,000 was paid to the owners of the Company's policies and to their beneficiaries.

The assets of Southwestern Life increased $19,239,813.75 during 1948 to a total of $179,601,941.91, enabling the Company to close the year in the strongest financial position in its history.

The largest increase in any of its investments was in loans made on Texas real estate, raising its holdings of such loans to an all-time high of $38,689,534.87.

Mr. Wood stated that Southwestern Life had a larger proportion of agents who had qualified for the Texas Leaders Round Table, an honorary organization of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, than any other company. He said this was due to the high calibre of men selected to represent the Company and to the carefully organized and continuing program of instruction maintained for them.

Southwestern Life is represented here by S. E. Brogdon.

Ruth and Helen Reichert spent the week end in Austin visiting friends.

S. E. Brogdon Rounds Out 32 Years With Southwestern Life

Friends are congratulating Mr. Brogdon to-day on completing 32 years as Representative in Cameron of Southwestern Life Insurance Company.

They share with him the pride of achievement and it is no secret that Southwestern Life is very proud of Mr. Brogdon for he is one of 5 or 6 agents left in the pioneer circle who began producing for the company back in 1917.

It may well be said of Mr. Brogdon that success has been achieved through the years by doing "one thing right."

Mr. Brogdon calls attention to and policy holders and all who are interested in life insurance, will be interested in the financial statement of Southwestern Life in this issue of The Herald.

Mr. Brogdon began writing insurance for Southwestern Life in 1917 and came to Cameron in 1919. He regards life insurance as a business of trust and the fine record of his company partakes both of the high type of the representative as well as faith and performance through the years with policyholders.

Minerva Burglary Nets Only 50 Cents

The W. H. Fletcher Grocery at Minerva was burglarized Wednesday night, it was reported Thursday by Sheriff Carl C. Black.

The burglar got 50c out of an open cash register drawer and so far as known nothing else was missing from the store. Officers believe the robbery was one of a chain of amateur jobs done in Cameron and vicinity during the past few weeks.

The thief entered the store through a window.

Suit Filed Here Is Questioning Title To Athletic Field

Suit has been filed by John McLerran against trustees of the Lawless Green Athletic Field here to establish what he claims is title to a portion of the land.

The Lawless Green Athletic Field was given to the city by A. N. Green in memory of his son, veteran of World War II who was killed in a plane crash near Cameron.

The field was entrusted to 3 young men as trustees. They are John Henderson, Claude Triggs and Jack Adams of Lampasas.

M. G. Cox is representing McLerran and Bill Wallace is representing Mr. Henderson and the other trustees.

Roy Baskin will represent the City of Cameron. Judge Patterson will hear the case in District court.

QUOTAS ARE FIXED FOR 1949 RED CROSS DRIVE

Milam County's 1949 quota in the Red Cross fund drive is $5,740.00 and of this amount 49.4 will remain in the county.

In setting up the campaign for funds at the organization meeting in Cameron it was pointed out that of this amount the city of Cameron has been given a quota of $2,200.00.

The 1949 campaign has been organized on a basis of complete information on every phase of Red Cross work and of quotas and community leaders. It is interesting to note that the estimated population of the county is 33,000. The per capita requirement for the quota is less than 20c per person, a small demand for great a need. The estimated population of Cameron is 6000. The per capita requests in the city of Cameron is about 37c or some 17c above the per capita request over the county.

In every instance, including the cities of the county, the quotas are small and the following have been announced:

Air Flare Shell Is On Display At Herald

In the late war American gunners in combat fired many rounds of high powered ammunition from their gun pits aboard the bomber and fighter crafts.

These shells alternated with bullets and flares. One of the shells on display is a flare shell and the other a regular army automatic rifle shell.

These shells were brought in by Frank Kleiber of Marak and may be seen in the window of the Herald office. Mr. Kleiber feels they are safer out of the way of the children around the house.

MILAM IS ONE OF FOUR TO GET BASIC SURVEY

"When will you get to my farm?"

"Sounds like a good deal to me." Of such are part of the questions and comments reaching the office of Alva E. Sanders, administrative officer of the Milam County ACA, concerning the farm conservation program administered on the county level.

Four counties in Texas were selected under this program. They are Milam, Tom Green, Lubbock, and Nacogdoches.

Purpose of the plan is to have experienced community committeemen visit each farm in the county and go over the farm with the owner or operator. The farmer will point out to the committeemen the soil building practices that need to be carried out.

As one farmer remarked to Sanders: "I know I need something on my farm, but I don't know what." That is where the community committeemen come into the picture.

Those working on the program in Milam County are Robert Glenn, Cameron; George Bland, Gause; Walter Kohring, Clarkson; Gib Terry, Cameron; Frank Tomek, Cameron; Paul Dillon, Cameron; and Walter Hagemester, Sandy Ridge.

After a survey of the farm is made, individual farm needs can then be worked out between the farmer and the ACA office.

For at the time the farmer is ready to carry out certain practices, the county ACA office can readily see what has been done on the farm and what needs to be done.

The amount of assistance the county committee will issue will be governed by the total needs of all soil building practices on the farm.

Thus available funds for conservation practices under the ACP plan will be used more advantageously. It was pointed out that all Texas counties may come under this plan, following a study of the results of it in the four counties named.

Sanders said the work started last September in Milam County, and that 750 farms in the Cameron area had been surveyed. There are about 3,700 farms in Milam County, and Sanders estimated it would take from a year to a year and a half to complete the survey.

Work has been temporarily halted on the plan to draw up a special folder covering each farm.

Included in the folder will be a picture (turn to page six)

"We feel welcome in Cameron," said Mr. Pearson who was in Cameron Wednesday, "because of the manifestations of interest on the part of the people."

"To the many good people of Cameron and trade territory, we wish to express our thanks for the kindness shown us in the opening of our new store. It was splendid of you to give us such a hearty welcome to your fine city and we want you to feel free to visit us whether you care to buy or not. Come, you are always welcome."

"Our purpose in opening this new store in Cameron is to make it more convenient for our customers already here. We look forward to the addition of many more new friends and customers. Our store policy is that you are always welcome whether you are buying or visiting."

Mr. Pearson said the new store has had a splendid business and its merchandise and service will be expanded to meet consumer needs in furniture and household appliances.

WRIGHT PATMAN SAYS RESERVE POLICY BAD

Congressman Wright Patman of Dallas blasted the Federal Reserve Board policy today on installment buying.

He said that the Federal Reserve Board may be responsible for a national business slump and a man made depression if they do not liberalize installment buying.

Mr. Patman pointed out that right now the automobile market, household and other appliances, available, cannot be purchased because of what he said was the policy to restrict credits. This policy he charged has driven everybody but the rich out of the buying market.

On top of the installment rigidity Reserve Board heads have called on banks to increase their reserve balances in a further tightening of credits.

Automobiles are now available and many dealers report that sales are not even commensurate with the supply. This they say results from the almost total lack of opportunity to get financed buying. One third down is required on the purchase of automobiles. Many who could buy and pay for cars simply don't have that much money to pay down.

On the other hand the government fears unrestricted credits would lead to overbuying and inflation.

Leo O'Neill Marooned Five Days in Snow At Greenriver, Wyoming

Leo J. O'Neill of Cameron has seen the big snows and retains for memory in the days to come a novel experience he can always relate in the latter years.

Mr. O'Neill left Cameron two weeks ago with his daughter, Mrs. V. J. DeArmond and two grandchildren, Barry and David, for Seattle, Washington where they took a boat for Japan to join her husband who is with the armed forces stationed in the Orient.

On the way back the train became snowbound in the wastes of Wyoming and for five days the passengers huddled up in the coaches.

"We felt the cold severely for only one night," said Mr. O'Neill, "otherwise we were no worse off for the experience."

The main problem was heat. The engine of the train ran low on water and was stopped. Railroad workmen piped the trains for heat from the engines and were moved out of Greenriver for other trains to be so equipped. The passengers spent their time playing games and well ordered program of social activities.

Mr. O'Neill reached Cameron early this week glad to get back to the land of mild winters.

How's Your Listening Time?

Buck Howell and I were in Balldale last week. Dropped in at Bob's diner where some friends were sitting around talking about whether to tell hogs now or wait.

Buck plunges right into the discussion. He's lecturing away when suddenly they all stand up and start stomping their feet like it was an Indian war dance.

I'm flabbergasted. But Buck only looked sheepish and explains, "Guess I was talking again, when I should've been listening. When a person's talking time gets out of line with his listening time around here, the gang reminds him by standing up and stomping."

From where I sit, that's a good system. Everyone has a right to his opinions—but others have a right to theirs, too—whether it's deciding between to sell or not to sell, apple pie or cherry pie, or a glass of mellow beer or cider. Life's more interesting that way, and hang it if you don't sometimes learn something!

Let's Get The Record Straight Regarding Our Medical Laws

Dr. Tate Miller of Dallas, president of the State Medical Association of Texas, made some statements in a radio broadcast from Austin the other day which are apt to confuse the public mind regarding the medical laws of Texas.

Perhaps unintentionally, Dr. Miller cast an unfair and wholly unwarranted reflection on the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Dr. Miller was speaking in favor of the so-called minimum standards bill now pending in the Legislature. This bill is an oldtimer dressed up with a new name. It is the 1949 version of the basic science bill which a segment of the organized medical profession has been trying for several years to foist upon the people of Texas.

It is a bill which, whether so intended or not, would in time give the medical profession a monopoly on the practice of the healing arts in Texas. Previous sessions of the Legislature have refused to pass the bill. There is no reason to believe that the present session will pass it, either. But since it may become a topic of public discussion, it would be well at the outset to get the record straight.

In response to a question asked by his radio interviewer, Dr. Miller declared that under the laws of Texas as sick persons have no legal guaranty that the practitioner to whom they go for treatment is qualified.

That statement is simply not true, as anyone familiar with the medical laws of Texas knows. We are astounded that anyone in Dr. Miller's position in the medical profession would make such a statement, and in fairness to him we assume that he merely read it from a radio script which had been written by someone unfamiliar with our medical laws, and which Dr. Miller had not read before going on the air.

The truth of the matter is that no one may legally practice the healing arts in Texas who has not previously passed an examination and been licensed by the State Board of Medical Examiners to practice in this state.

If any patient or patron of any physician in Texas is the least bit doubtful as to the physician's qualifications and legal right to practice, has had but to ask to see the physician's license. If he has a license issued by the State Board of Medical Examiners, one may be certain he is qualified and has a full legal right to practice in this state.

At another point in his broadcast Dr. Miller made the statement that the minimum standards bill "will help to abolish ignorance from the sick room" by requiring all practitioners, before they are licensed, to pass an examination in seven basic sciences: anatomy, physiology, chemistry, bacteriology, pathology, hygiene and public health.

Here again is displayed ignorance of our medical laws. A full understanding of each of these sciences certainly should be a fundamental requirement of all applicants for licenses to practice in Texas. The point is that our medical laws already require just that.

Here is what the present Texas law, which has been in effect since 1907, says on the subject of medical licenses and examinations: "All applicants for license to practice medicine in this state must successfully pass an examination before the Board of Medical Examiners. Examinations shall be conducted on anatomy, physiology, chemistry, histology, pathology, bacteriology, diagnosis, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, hygiene and medical jurisprudence."

According to Dr. Miller, the proposed minimum standards law would require examinations in only seven subjects, but in five additional subjects as well.

We are unable to see how elimination of the requirement that examinations be given in histology, diagnosis, surgery, obstetrics and medical jurisprudence would, as Dr. Miller claims, "help to abolish ignorance from the sick room."

The State Board of Medical Examiners, composed of 12 reputable practicing physicians of Texas appointed by the governor and approved by the State Senate—physicians whose integrity has never before been questioned—now gives examinations in all 12 of the subjects which have been specified in the law for 42

We believe the members of this board discharge their duties fairly, impartially and conscientiously. There is no evidence to indicate that the present, or any previous members, of the board have ever granted any applicant a license to practice who had not previously passed examinations in each and every one of the required subjects.

Because of the splendid record of this board, and the confidence which the people of Texas have in it, we say that Dr. Miller's assertion that the sick have no legal guaranty that the physician treating them is qualified to do so is an unfair and wholly unwarranted reflection on this board which Dr. Miller should publicly retract.

THE AUSTIN STATESMAN February 15, 1949 Basic Science Law Medical Profession In Poor Case Trying To Erect Texas Monopoly By R. O. ZOLLINGER

Many and diverse are the assaults upon the freedom of the individual to accept or reject. Groups vie with each other and other groups in efforts to get laws passed against them and their activities.

The National Association of Manufacturers looks with jaundiced eye upon organized labor and tries to remodel it, via the Taft-Hartley bill, in its own pattern. Some leaders of organized labor would like to force management to give them a part in policy while forcing management to accept all the risks of the operation.

Eastern manufacturers selling goods in Texas try term after term of the Texas legislature to get what they call a "fair" trade law passed to enable them to dictate the price to Texas retailers for which their wares may be sold, by-passing the Texas anti-trust laws in the constant effort to get more and more of the Texas "take" by limiting competition.

In a score of lines monopoly is attempting to invest itself in the robes of economic and professional virtue.

Free enterprise has been taking a beating in this land of the brave and the home of the free. The movement spreads to making it compulsory for individuals and groups to do what other individuals and groups demand that they do.

The rugged individual who defies these efforts to regiment his mind and his actions automatically is condemned as a radical who is dangerous to be allowed at large. Most in these groups say they thoroughly believe in competition, but when the competition get stiff they rush to Congress or the Legislature and demand a law to get the public "protected" by outlawing the competitor. It's all very dizzy—and dangerous.

Th Texas medical profession currently is attempting to put those in other professions of healing out of business. Its policy makers will deny this, but the facts speak for themselves.

Medicine has made a splendid contribution to suffering humanity. Its rolls are filled with men who have dedicated themselves in service to human well-being and welfare. Many have sacrificed their lives to their zeal in behalf of mankind. All honors to them.

But this in no way should be taken as endowing the medical profession with divine right, or of legitimizing the efforts by some of the profession to achieve a monopoly in the arts of healing.

The basic science bill, sponsored by the Texas and American Medical Association, now before the Texas legislature, would give medicine, as one of the arts of healing, the power to force other practitioners out of business.

For years the profession has attempted to prevent the practice of chiropractic, osteopathy and naturopathy by one device or another. It has attempted to force all other practitioners to its point of view and method, which would automatically freeze all healing methods and processes to the standards of the medical profession, historically resistant of most advances even within the profession. Its method of determining the fit and unfit is to place it in irrevocable charge of examinations.

Though at least one official says that each profession would be allowed to set its own standards, the board would be made up of medical men serving professorships in medical schools.

Standards of the healing arts should be high, but they should not be intolerant. To force a chiropractor or osteopath or naturopath to be a medical man amounts to making it impossible for him to practice his profession. He becomes the captive of regimenting, inhibiting and pre-judicial forces.

To force the chiropractor, the osteopath and the naturopath to accept qualifications laid down by the medical policy makers in the apparent effort to put him out of business would be like forcing a painter to become skilled in laying shingles, or a plumber to become a carpenter, or a bricklayer to become a paperhanger as a prerequisite to obtaining a union card.

Should the situation be reversed and other branches of the healing arts attempt by law to force their theories upon the medical profession with power to prevent its members from practicing their own profession, it would be just as reprehensible. But they don't have the political power for that, and the medical associations do. That's what makes any such law as this so dangerous.

AUSTIN AMERICAN February 12, 1949 Lawmakers Use Sharp Pen or Bill of Medical Group

By FRED WILLIAMS

What is known as the basic science bill is due to churn up lots of pro and con discussion this session if straws in the wind mean anything. The bill is being sponsored by the medical profession and has as its avowed purpose legislation to supervise practices among chiropractors.

Representative A. Robin Henderson of Groesbeck is one legislator who is hot under the collar about it. In fact, so hot, that this week he took pen in hand to make some stinging remarks against what he termed was a campaign of slander now being carried on by the MD's of Texas.

In his attack on the bill he claimed that its sole purpose "is to outlaw every osteopath and chiropractor in Texas."

Henderson thinks that boards are necessary to referee practices. But he goes a step further. "I favor a separate board for chiropractors and naturopaths. There is no reason why the osteopaths should have a separate board because they are already duly and legally licensed physicians.

"There is only one medical examining board in this state, and it is stacked with medical doctors in violation of the state constitution, which says no one branch of the healing arts shall have a majority of members of the board."

Henderson says that not all MD's by a long shot, refuse to consult with osteopaths about a sick person. But he says many doctors refuse to practice or confer with osteopaths in consultations over the sick, and further charges that in most hospitals owned or controlled by a medical doctor that an osteopath is refused permission to treat a patient.

Henderson, an insurance man when not engaged in law-making, says: "The doctors have brought pressure to bear on many of the life insurance companies not to accept a medical examination from an osteopathic physician."

The Groesbeck legislator makes it plain that he's against socialized medicine. "I think every person has a legal and moral right to use the doctor of his choice. But this medical association has kept the Legislature from setting up a board for the chiropractors all these years, when under the present law any person without one day in school is allowed to practice this profession."

Henderson says there's no doubt in his mind about there being a place for chiropractors in Texas, and that this opinion is shared by many people from all walks of life. "I shall vote to give the chiropractors a board of their own so that after proper training and four years in school they can practice."

He sounded one warning. "There is one sure thing, the people of this state, especially the poorer classes, are being neglected for the want of doctors and trained nurses. If the doctors do not stop their war on the other healing arts, they will bring socialized medicine on themselves."

"I also charge that the medical association has blocked the enlargement of our medical schools. I am serving my third term in the House and I have not had one medical doctor to ask me about taxes, farm to market roads, or aid for old people. The only matter they have ever discussed with me is for a closed shop, thus outlawing all competition."

Medical Monopoly

Somebody should remind the leaders of the medical profession that, as magnificent as its record of service to humanity is, as truly great as its contribution to human well being and welfare has been, it hasn't so great a backlog of respect and affection in the minds of the American people that it can afford to browbeat and bulldoze its way to an absolute dictatorship over public health in this free democracy.

Currently the medical profession in Texas is pushing for passage of a basic science bill which, after all is said and done, would place in the hands of the medical profession the power of life and death over all forms of treatment not recognized by the medicos.

If this bill becomes law, it will give the medical profession a potential if not absolute monopoly over all methods of treatment now in vogue.

The leaders of medicine who cried out against bureaucratic or socialized medicine do not scruple to ask the legislature of Texas citizens; give us the power to say to any Texan, "You cannot choose your doctor, we'll do it for you."

In recent years every attempt of chiropractors, to name only one rival method of treatment for the ills that afflict humanity, to raise the standards of their profession by creating a license law that would exclude the charlatans and ill-prepared, has been beaten down in the Texas legislature. If this law should finally be passed, and the proposed basic science bill were superimposed upon its board of examiners and upon all other boards of examiners, there would be a type of monopoly control over the people of Texas that would deny them the service of any practitioner save what the medical profession condescended to permit them to have.

Why Another Board?

The more we go into the so-called Basic Science Bill that is pending before the Texas Senate, the more we become convinced of its undesirability, at least in its present form. Let's examine the facts:

The proposed legislation was sponsored by the Texas State Medical Association.

There had been no public clamor for it. The people seemed content to go along as they were.

The lopsided vote in the House on the bill would suggest that many members of the House had been pledged in advance to vote for it. That meant the opponents of the bill did not have a fair hearing.

There is reason to question the motives of the medical profession in sponsoring such legislation. That profession should put its own house in order before trying to protect the public against chiropractors, osteopaths, or naturopaths.

Even within the medical profession the innovator and experimenter is often unable to overcome the opposition of his elders in a profession notably conservative. Look what happened to Sister Kenney.

In Texas, if the Basic Science Bill becomes law, it will be necessary for graduates of medical schools to take two examinations—basic science and medical. That is ridiculous.

Neither M. D.'s nor others engaged in the healing art should be required to take two examinations. All should be carefully licensed and closely regulated.

All the Basic Science Law would do in reality except make it hard on chiropractors especially would be to create another board—the State Board of Examiners in Basic Sciences.

DALLAS TIMES HERALD May 5, 1947 A Bill That Hardly Merits "Must" Classification

The Texas Legislature, during the short period of law-making to which it is restricted, has more pressing business of state-wide importance than it can transact, yet it must spend a large part of its time on bills in which only special groups and elements are interested.

The so called basic science bill is one of several measures of this kind which have consumed the time of the current session. Theoretically, at least, this bill has merit. It would seem to require more thorough training of persons engaged in the healing of the sick.

But, the need for this bill certainly is not pressing. No public clamor for its enactment has been heard. The public at large is not complaining that doctors, of the various schools of healing, are lacking in skill. In fact, the public seems under the impression that Texas doctors, of all established schools, are competent. The only trouble is that they are not plentiful enough.

But, would there be any discrimination? Would the new law give any school power to suppress or harass other schools? These are questions that the legislator should study carefully.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION:

The Chiropractors of Texas are sponsoring a Bill now pending before the Texas Legislature which provides:

1. A board of 9 Chiropractic Examiners composed of Graduate Chiropractors with at least 5 years of experience in Texas, to be appointed by the Governor, with consent of the Senate.

2. Examination of applicants for license to practice Chiropractic in Texas, on 8 subjects Basic to Chiropractic.

3. That Chiropractors shall be licensed to practice Chiropractic only.

4. Four years of education in recognized Chiropractic School before the examination for license to practice can be taken.

5. For the enforcement of the Act, which will PROTECT THE PEOPLE OF TEXAS FROM POORLY TRAINED CHIROPRACTORS! Therefore the Basic Science Law (or minimum Standard Law) is UNNECESSARY AND NOT IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST! Furthermore, the Chiropractors of Texas have tried for 20 years, to get a fair, workable Chiropractic Law passed in Texas, only to be BITTERLY OPPOSED by the TEXAS MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, which is opposing it this time too! ARE THEY THINKING ONLY OF THE PUBLIC PROTECTION? What do YOU think?

6. BOTH SIDES OF THIS QUESTION HAVE APPEARED IN YOUR LOCAL NEWSPAPERS. Now YOU can decide what you think is best for YOU and YOUR CHILDREN, and TELL YOUR REPRESENTATIVES IN AUSTIN BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE!

Medical Minimum Standards Bill is Senate Bill 63, House Bill 103. Chiropractic Bill is Senate Bill 171.

Your Representatives are: Senator Kyle Vick; Floridian Representative Henry G. Lehman; Representative H. F. Paschall. Address: Capital Station, Austin, Texas.

JUNIOR COLD WAVE TO BE FELT IN CAMERON

Colder weather will reach the Cameron area late Monday or sooner, depending on the movement of the front which was fairly well stabilized early Monday north of Waco.

The front was moving slowly and does not have much zip but was due to bring freezing temperatures to the Panhandle.

Rain had fallen in almost every section of the state but the fall was light. The low for the current wave would be felt in this area by Tuesday.

A mild cold wave which brought freezing drizzle to the northern Panhandle, moved into Texas Sunday.

More freezing drizzle for the north Panhandle was forecast for Sunday night and early Monday. But the cold air mass was not expected to bring severe temperatures. Fog and rain are expected to accompany it as it moves into North Texas.

A mass of warm air moving up from the Gulf caused considerable fog in South and East Texas. Late Sunday afternoon, visibility was a mile and a half at Austin and three-quarters at San Antonio.

Clouds covered all of the state Sunday, the weather bureau reported. Temperatures were in the lower 30s in the upper Panhandle and generally in the 60s and 70s elsewhere Sunday afternoon.

Frank Ermis of Austin, returned to Cameron this week to enter Newton Memorial Hospital for treatment. Mr. Ermis formerly lived here but has been spending considerable time in recent months in Austin with relatives.

Washington Birthday Partially Observed

Washington's Birthday was partially observed in Cameron as usual with banks closing and postal service restricted to the minimum requirements.

Business went on as usual. Cameron observes only three holidays a year, July 4, Armistice and Christmas. Banks and federal services observe more.

Friends of Miss Annie Stallworth will be glad to know she is much improved and will return to her home after being a patient in Newton Memorial Hospital.

Kitchen Improvement Talked At Jones, Prairie HD Meeting

Working in a gay brightly lighted kitchen, makes your work so much more pleasant Mrs. Isabelle Moody, H. D. Agent, told the Jones Prairie club when they met Wednesday, February 10 at the home of Mrs. E. B. Yager.

Mrs. Moody discussed color schemes for that gay pleasant kitchen, as follows: "Yellow, ivory, and blue", "cream, black and green", "blue, pink and white", make beautiful combinations. In addition to the kitchen demonstration, Mrs. Moody set up a miniature ventilated pantry. She went on to say, food retains more food value, a better flavor and texture, if it is stored in a cool, dry, dark place. A cellar is the most ideal place for storing food, but the ventilated pantry is second best.

President, Mrs. E. B. Yager presided over the business meeting, naming her demonstrators. Mrs. Bailey Jones, kitchen; Mrs. Bill Thweatt, yard. Leaders to attend the training school "Table service and manners" to be held in Cameron, date to be announced later, are Mrs. Bailey Jones, and Mrs. S. S. Hickman. Mrs. Robert Glenn, Council delegate, gave the council report.

Mrs. Yager was given a surprise handkerchief and card shower.

The hostess served a delicious congealed salad, wafers, cookies and coffee to 14 members and agent. Next regular meeting will be February 22 with Mrs. S. S. Hickman hostess.

ROCKDALE HOSPITALITY FOR TEACHERS IS GOOD

Members of the Milam County Teachers Association found hospitality in Rockdale very fine and named their delegates to the coming District Meeting in Temple under happy circumstances.

The meeting held late last week, found a large number of the members of the county association in attendance. The Milam County Association is a unit of the Texas State Teachers Association and its organization has been most beneficial in promoting better understanding and co-operation.

The Rockdale school officials made the teachers feel welcome. The school was attractively decorated in a Valentine motif. The program was interesting.

Mrs. B. B. Sapp of Austin, Secretary of the Texas Teachers Retirement Administration, spoke about the new laws that have been enacted to facilitate administration of funds under the retirement plan. In this way teachers who are members of the County Association have been briefed intelligently on the workings of the plan.

In the business meeting of the Association delegates were elected to the Temple meeting on March 11 and 12 as follows: Mrs. K. K. Robbins, Chas. M. Hicks, County Superintendent, A. C. Winkleman, Mr. White of Milano and M. Layfield.

Attending were faculty members from Cameron, Milano, Gause, Sharpe, Buckholts and a number of Rural Schools.

Hinton H. Pruett, superintendent of Milano Schools, presided.

A delicious refreshment plate was served as further evidence of the importance Rockdale school authorities attach to the Association and their expression of hospitality.

THREE RIVERS HERO—Three Rivers Hero Gets Arlington Rites In Burial Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—A family of Latin-Americans from Three Rivers stood in a cold drizzling rain in Arlington National cemetery today and heard last rites for Private Felix Z. Longoria.

His dark-eyed widow, 8-year-old daughter and mother were among those gathered solemnly at one side of the flag-bedecked casket holding the remains of the 26-year-old soldier.

His reburial was not far from the burial site of General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, aide to President Truman stood at the head of the two long rows of caskets of 19 war dead who were reburied today. Longoria's casket was at the head of one row.

Just before the services, newsmen asked Vaughan if he was there as President Truman's personal representative.

"Yes," replied Vaughan, "I came here for the services of that Texas boy who got all the unfavorable publicity in Cameron with the Marek-Burns Funeral Home directing arrangements.

H D CLUB WOMEN WILL HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Home Demonstration Club Women from the 10th District composed of 17 counties will hold their 1949 convention in Cameron on April 19 and 20.

Mrs. W. C. Moody, Home Demonstration Agent from Milam County has called attention to an error in the published account of the convention. The delegates are not Demonstration Agents but are Home Demonstration Club Women.

Each county, said Mrs. Moody, elects delegates to these meetings and it is estimated that about 100 will attend the convention here. It is the Texas Home Demonstration Association district meeting.

These meetings develop club plans and are beneficial in many ways.

The first session will be held in the basement of the Methodist church and this will be an entertainment session. The convention proper will be held on April 20 in the District Court Room.

Judge Dan Tyson will deliver the welcome address. Mrs. Hearne, State Agent from Texas A&M College will be here.

The program includes an address by District Judge W. A. Morrison.

NO MAJOR CRIMES ARE INVOLVED IN CHARGES

The Grand Jury in District Court in session Monday quickly disposed of business in hand, returning 12 indictments.

There are no major crimes involved in the indictments and only four of those charged have been placed under arrest.

The jury was sworn in here Monday by Judge W. A. Morrison and immediately went to work with the aid of County Attorney Gunn to consider law violations.

PRESIDENT SAYS PRICES ARE JUST LEVELING OFF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 —President Truman advised the nation today not to get alarmed over the business outlook. He said that current price drops are only the leveling-off that everybody has been expecting.

At the same time, he served notice that he still wants Congress to boost taxes by $4,000,000,000.

The President spoke confidently of the business outlook.

Asked if he was considering modifying consumer credit controls, he said not at this time and that he would not do so unless there was a more definite indication of a slump.

The President said it was at his suggestion that the House Ways and Means Committee is taking up social security ahead of tax increases. He emphasized that the shift does not indicate any change in his position.

Mr. Truman said that it was far more convenient to handle social security legislation first because the tax proposals were not ready.

The President opened the news conference with an oral statement on the tax and social security situation. He said he hoped it would clear up the procedure of the Ways and Means Committee.

On the subject of the recent business lag, the President expressed the personal view that prices are about to level off. He stated a hope that the trend will prove to be a leveling off and not a takeoff for a new upswing of inflation.

But he added emphatically that the leveling off hasn't gone far enough to eliminate the need for his anti-inflation program of wage-price controls, rent ceilings and consumer credit restrictions.

Congress has been marking time on the anti-inflation bills which the Administration submitted early this week.

GILMER-AKIN MEASURE SURE SENATE APPROVAL

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 16 — Senate opponents of the public school reorganization bills indicated today they have shot their wad, at least for a while.

The first of the measures — the central education agency bill by Jim Taylor of Kerens—weathered a deluge of words in the 51st legislature first filibuster early today. It was passed to third and final reading by a 16 to 6 vote in the senate.

Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg who stormed and stalled against the bill for seven and half hours of the 11-hour filibuster, said today further delaying action is not contemplated.

The bill will be numbered two on the calendar when the senate goes back into session at 10 a. m. tomorrow. It will be up for final senate action and opponents conceded its passage.

The senate, groggy from the longest filibuster since 1943, had no session but concentrated on committee work today. The night hearing on the so-called "basic science" of "minimum standards" act for all who practice the healing arts again brought medical doctors and chiropractors into conflict over legislation. The M. D.'s are backing the bill and the chiropractors are fighting it.

The house adjourned until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow after passing six resolutions and nine bills. It heard Senator Taylor attacked and defended for a senate floor crack yesterday over halting debate on the school revamping bill to hear Audie Murphy of Farmersville, much-decorated World War II veteran.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vybral of Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Krupicka of Waco spent several days in Texas City where they visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hertenberger. While there they also made a visit to Galveston. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Hertenberger who is spending a few days with relatives and friends in Cameron.

Ernest Koenig of Buckholts was a Cameron visitor recently.

School Principal Is Badly Beaten; 2 Men Charged At Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 20—Two men have been charged here with aggravated assault after School Principal Ray Culp was badly beaten at his home here last Friday night. Earlier Friday, Culp had whipped a son of one of the men as a matter of school discipline.

County Attorney Vernon Adeock said the men charged were R. D. Taylor, a farmer, and Jack Aldridge, a trucker. The official said the charges were filed in County Judge R. W. Herndon's Court. Taylor was released on $1,500 bond and Aldridge on $1,000.

Adeock said his investigation showed the following occurred:

Culp struck Taylor's son five times with a rubber hose after the boy ran through a second-floor hall in the school building shouting. The principal said he had previously disciplined the boy several times.

Friday night, two men appeared at the Culp home. One beat Culp severely while they were on the front porch. The other held Mrs. Culp when she attempted to go to her husband's aid.

Culp was treated at a local hospital for a badly cut forehead, bruises and three broken ribs. He had returned to his home today.

Rural Population Shrinkage Economic Threat Says Jester

AUSTIN, Feb. 18.—Rural population shrinkage is a serious challenge to Texas economy, Gov. Beauford H. Jester today told the Texas Dirt Farmers Congress.

Unless there is a back-to-the farm movement, he said, "the first depression we have will be all the more serious and severe."

"Business and agriculture in Texas complement each other, have many mutual interests and should advance together," he said.

One step the legislature can take to encourage returns to the farms and ranches, he said, is to encourage a planned program for building more rural roads.

CONFIDENCE EXPRESSED BY ECONOMIC ADVISORS

There is no sign now of unemployment becoming a serious national problem, the Government's top employment expert, Ewan Clague, told a news conference Friday.

Earlier, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, top economic adviser to President Truman, had said the United States is going through a period of "healthy disinflation."

Meanwhile, a downward trend in new industrial layoffs was being reported by Robert C. Goodwin, director of the Bureau of Employment Security. New claims for unemployment insurance, he said, had dropped 13,200 for the week ended last Saturday.

"Purchasing power has not gone to pot," said Clague, "and not many people have much to worry about."

TEXAS SALES JUMP

DALLAS, Feb. 18 — Department store sales in Texas' four largest cities for the week ended Feb. 12 were up an average of 10 per cent compared with the corresponding week in 1948, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said today in its weekly report.

He pointed out that the rise in unemployment between December and January was more than seasonal, "but small in extent, and confined to certain industries." It was most noticeable in manufacturing.

Springlike Weather Expected to End In Far Western Texas

A mild cold front was at a standstill across north Texas Saturday and may not have the force to penetrate into Central Texas, it was declared by forecasters.

Colder weather was expected in the Cameron area late Sunday or Tuesday of next week. In the meantime Texas would have cloudy skies and foggy weather due to the warm air that spread over the state from the Gulf region.

A change from springlike temperatures was in prospect Saturday for the Texas Panhandle and northwest part of east Texas.

A pocket of cool air drifting eastward may bring somewhat colder weather to those sections, the Dallas weather bureau said.

Temperatures Friday reached the mid 50's, 60's and 70's. There were occasional drizzles of rain at Beaumont, Galveston, Houston, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, and Alice in the coastal section; also at Austin and San Antonio inland.

The forecast said scattered light rains in South Texas should end Friday night. Partly cloudy skies were in prospect for all the state Saturday.

The weather bureau emphasized that the cool air pocket was not a cold wave. It said there was some prospect of a cold wave by Sunday. A cold air mass in the Canadian Rockies was being retarded in its southeast movement by a low pressure area over Washington and Oregon. If the low pressure area in

BISHOP YOUNG, NEGRO CHURCH LEADER BURIED

More than 200 persons attended the funeral of Bishop George B. Young, retired bishop of the A. M. E. Church Wednesday afternoon in George B. Young Auditorium on Paul Quinn College campus. Bishop Young was the first native Texan to be elected to the bishopric of his church and served in that capacity from his election in 1928 at General Conference in Chicago until his retirement at Kansas City in 1948. During the 20 years he served in Africa, Arkansas and Texas.

Those appearing on the funeral program were the Reverends E. M. Bracey, T. R. Clemons, C. H. Sanders, G. E. Browne, P. D. Saddler, Frank Veal (representing Bishop Frank M. Reid of South Carolina), J. V. B. Goins and R. S. Jenkins, Dr. A. S. Jackson, financial secretary, A. M. E. Church; Paul Quinn College Choral Ensemble; Lonnie Hayes, Roy Hicks, Miss Mary Goins, Mrs. Nannie Bell Aycox, President Paul Quinn College, and Bishop Gomez, presiding bishop of Texas, A. M. E. Church.

While serving as presiding bishop of the 10th Episcopal District (Texas) Bishop Young popularized the Sunday School Congress which met annually on the campus of Paul Quinn College. It was under his administration that the new George B. Young auditorium was erected at the college. Bishop Young continued active until failing health forced his retirement nine months ago. His health continued to fail and death came to him, Thursday night, Feb. 3, at his home on Church Street, East Waco. He was buried in Greenwood Cemetery.—Waco News-Tribune.

George B. Young was born in slavery in Milam County some 90 years ago on the late William W. Oxsheer plantation on Little River. He was the son of Steve Young, a slave who came with the Oxsheer family to Texas long before the Civil War.

It was not long after Bishop Young's birth that he became free along with his parents and they acquired a body of land near the Oxsheer plantation.

Oxsheer Smith, President of Citizens National Bank, commenting on the death of Young, said that as a barefoot boy he was spending a few days at his grandfather's plantation when a committee of negro citizens headed by the late Abe Walker came to the big house and invited his grandfather to attend an Emancipation Day celebration on June 19th. That was along about 1895. Mr. Smith said his grandfather asked who would speak and when the committee told him that George Young would deliver the address he gladly accepted the invitation. Young had returned to the old home place after an absence of several years at college.

Mr. Smith told of another instance in the life of Young who had decided upon a Missionary Journey to Africa. Before going away he transferred a large sum of money for deposit in Citizens National Bank where he said it would be in safe keeping by the family who had known him since childhood.

Leo Jackson was guest speaker for the occasion and used as his subject, "Points Essential To A Christian Life". The sweetheart theme was carried out in decorations, table centers and programs. The invocation was given by Bobbie Burnett.

After the meal, which was served by the ladies of the church a medley of humorous songs were sung by the group led by Mrs. S. W. McClaren. The girl's quartet also sang and is composed of Bobby Burnett, Betty Jo Short, Bonnie Pratt and Bytha Ann Baker, and accompanied by Mrs. Morris Coward and Mrs. McClaren are sponsors of the Intermediates.

Old Silver Urn Is Attracting Interest At Herald Plant

A silver urn and a cup, apparently one of a set of 6 or more, is on display at The Herald, brought in by H. M. Akers who purchased the pieces some years ago.

Their warranty is attested by patent date of 1854 and number, together with the name of maker. The cup is tripple plate silver and the pot or urn is also of extra plate. The pot will weigh about 5 or 6 pounds. Antique collectors will be interested in these pieces, although Mr. Akers is not offering to sell them. Since there is some lack of information on the correct classification of these silver pieces, the Publisher would like very much to have you call and tell us what they are.

Anyone can surmise that the large piece is a coffee or tea urn but it is so unlike anything seen here, it will be most interesting to those who are interested in these things. The pot and cup can be seen from the window of the Herald plant. Mr. Akers is interested in antiques and for that matter who isn't? He like many other interested citizens would like to see some public place to house historic effects.

PRESIDENT TALKS TEXAS TO RADIO COMMENTATOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22— President Truman said tonight that "if any S. O. B. thinks he can get me to discharge any member of my staff or Cabinet by some smart aleck statement over the air, he's mistaken."

In the sharpest language he has ever used in a speech, the President vigorously defended Maj. General Harry H. Vaughan, his military aide, at a dinner honoring Vaughan.

Vaughan has been criticized by Drew Pearson, radio commentator and columnist, because he recently accepted a decoration from President Peron of Argentina.

Mr. Truman spoke at the Army-Navy Country Club at nearby Arlington, Va., at a banquet given by the Reserve Officers Association in Vaughan's honor.

Earlier speakers had mentioned Pearson's criticism of Vaughan.

Following up his defense of Vaughan at his last news conference, the President said that "no pollster" or anyone else is going to influence his selection of his Cabinet or members of his staff.

Mr. Truman went on to say he alone will do any changing of his Administration.

"I'm a fair target for everything," he said. "I have my secretaries and my military and other aides. They are able to take it."

Mr. Truman said there had been "very vicious attacks on my military aide." He said the attacks were "unjust, and I say it advisedly, vicious."
